2,500-home plan: Views still needed

Have your say at cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

THERE is another chance for residents to have their say on a controversial 2,500-home development.

A new consultation has opened on the Great Wilsey Park development in north-east Haverhill after changes were made to the original planning application.

The development would see up to 2,500 homes, two local centres and a country park created.

Developers Hallam Land Management have made changes to the original plans, including introducing a right of way, more trees, and a woodland trail on the Kedington side of the site.

Kevin Betts, of the Kedington Action Group, which has spoken out against the development, welcomed the changes, saying the group had actively campaigned for them. But he added, ahead of an action group meeting tonight: "Our view is still that it's an unsustainable, badly planned, badly thought out development."

Concerns have been raised by Haverhill county councillor Julian Flood about the impact on traffic.

A relief road is set to be created, but up to 1,000 homes could be built before its completion. Changes are proposed to junctions including the Cangle Junction on Withersfield Road to cope with increased traffic.

Cllr Flood said people could be left "sitting for hours" at the junction.

The masterplan for the development was approved by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in September, but it has not yet received outline planning permission.

No representative for the developers was available for comment.

The new consultation runs until June 17. Visit planning.westsuffolk.gov.uk

Girl, 12, gets close shave for charity

A 12-YEAR-OLD girl has raised nearly £500 for charity by having her head shaved.

Jamie-Lee Buckmaster visited Sonia's Hair and Beauty in Haverhill's Queen Street yesterday afternoon to have her hair shaved off to raise money for MacMillan Cancer Research.

She chose to fundraise after a family friend suffered breast cancer. She has already raised £460, and her Haverhill grandmother Pat Cain says donations are still coming in.

PLANNING

DRAWINGS: The front elevation of the proposed new flats in Camps Road

First views of flats drawings

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

THE drawings of a planned new development of 50 retirement flats in Haverhill have been released.

Churchill Retirement Living wants to build the flats on a site opposite Haverhill Recreation Ground in Camps Road.

Planning documents describes the buildings as having "well-balanced, elegant yet uncomplicated facades with subtle detailing".

The site, which would consist of one and two-bedroom homes, would have a lodge manager on duty and an emergency call system 24 hours a day for residents. There would also be a communal lounge and landscaping outside the buildings. Parking spaces would be also provided.

The new site is next to Place Farm Primary Academy and Place Court Care home, as well as the site of Haverhill's former magistrates court.

The magistrates' court building, which for a long time was set to be bought by the town council and turned into a youth hub, could be demolished for redevelopment in the future. This could mean an expansion of the Churchill site.

COMFORT: What the interior of the flats could look like

The developers' design statement said: "Although the proposed building is slightly larger than the existing building on site, it will make a positive contribution to the surrounding area through the removal of a redundant build that is currently not utilised to be replaced with a quality development with considered design, maintained landscaping, and an optimised layout."

A period of consultation closed in March and a planning application has now been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The council's planning committee must now review the application and decide whether to grant planning permission. The developers are hoping that a decision will be made on the application by the end of August.

If planning permission is granted, the first owners would be able to move into their flats in the summer next year.

POLITICS

Vote means research park may stay outside town boundaries

HAVERHILL Research Park could remain outside town boundaries if new council recommendations go ahead.

The boundaries of Haverhill are being reviewed as part of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's community governance review.

At a meeting last week of the borough council's sustainable development working party, councillors looked at changing the boundaries of the town so that they covered the proposed Great Wilsey

Park development in the north-east of the town, and Haverhill Research Park and the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout in the west.

Councillors in the working party agreed to make recommendations to change the boundary where the north-east development is set to be built, but voted against recommending a change in the boundary around the research park, meaning it could remain in Withersfield. The proposals must now be discussed by the full council.

Historic cottage up for sale

A HISTORIC cottage which was saved from possible demolition by a planning inspector's decision has been put up for sale.

Flint Cottage in Haverhill's Bumpstead Road is being sold by Haverhill-based Samuel's estate agents for around £450,000.

The three-bedroom house, which has stood in Haverhill for almost 200 years, was the subject of a prolonged planning dispute after owner Kenneth Dobinson put in an application to build flats on the site. This could have resulted in the cottage being demolished, which was objected to by local campaigners. A planning inspector decided to reject the application in April.

COMMUNITY

Charity bid to update system

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A CHARITY is aiming to raise thousands of pounds for a high-tech system which would allow staff to visit residents and open satellite centres.

REACH Community Projects, which has a resource centre in Haverhill's Leiston Road, helps residents with poverty-related problems. Its services range from providing debt counselling to running the town's food bank and furniture banks.

Now the charity is fundraising for a new cloud-based computer system to enable REACH staff to work online while out and about.

Henry Wilson, projects director at REACH, said: "It increases our ability to do more home visits and to be able to go out into the community - what has been mentioned to us is doing something in Linton."

He said that in the past when REACH had tried to run satellite centres, the system could be exploited by people who would pick up food parcels from both the satellite centre and the resource centre.

FUNDRAISING: Henry Wilson of REACH Community Projects

With the new system, which could be up and running as soon as April next year, a satellite centre would be connected to REACH's central computer system enabling updates instantaneously, meaning exploitation of the system would no longer be possible.

Although REACH already does some home visits, the new system would mean that they become easier for staff to perform, and satellite centres would become a possibility again. This could be in other parts of Haverhill, such as the Chalkstone Estate, as well as surrounding villages.

Mr Wilson is undertaking a number of sponsored swims and a triathlon this summer in a bid to raise the £2,000 to £3,000 which is needed to get the system up and running by the next financial year. The swimming events include the Great East Swim and the Mill to Mill swim up the Stour. He said other members of the charity's staff were also raising money.

Join party for Queen's birthday

CELEBRATE the Queen's birthday this weekend with a tea party in a Haverhill churchyard.

Tea and a limited supply of free cakes will be on offer at the celebration at St Mary's from 2.30pm to 5.30pm on Sunday.

The event, which has been co-ordinated by Haverhill Town Council, will also feature entertainment including magic and storytelling.

Partygoers will have the opportunity to take part in a project which will aim to take portrait photographs of Haverhill residents born in every year of the Queen's life from 1926 to the present.

The town council's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "The plan is to have a family-friendly event to celebrate the Queen's 90th birthday. As well as providing fun and free cakes, we are looking to take photographs of 90 Haverhill residents which will form part of a historical project."

Funding for the tea party has come from the locality budgets of Haverhill councillors Tony Brown and John Burns.

The tea party is part of a programme of summer events for the town, including an Armed Forces Day celebration.

Split over how to vote in

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirsky

IT'S one of the biggest decisions in a generation, and there are just three weeks left to decide how you're going to vote.

On June 23, voters across the country will take to the polls to have their say in the referendum on whether Britain should remain part of the European Union or leave it.

To help you decide, the News has asked some of Haverhill's politicians and businesspeople for their personal opinions on the pros and cons of Britain being part of the EU, and how they plan to vote in the upcoming referendum.

In order to be able to have your say in the referendum, you must make sure that you are registered to vote by Tuesday, June 7.

If you voted in May's local elections or last year's general election and still live at the same address, you will already be registered.

Otherwise, you can register to vote or check if you are on the register by visiting www.gov.uk/register-to-vote.

CONSERVATIVE MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock: "For me, the economic case for membership is clear, and strengthened by the reforms secured in the renegotiation. For the sake of the jobs and investment that come from our trade with Europe, Britain is better off in a reformed Europe. In a turbulent and uncertain world we should not add to those risks to our economic security with years of uncertainty. "Locally, business have told me about how important EU membership is to their businesses, and the jobs and prosperity they bring. So for these reasons I'm campaigning to remain in a reformed EU, and urge others to do the same."

UKIP Haverhill town borough and county councillor John Burns: "I want those that control our destiny to be accountable to UK voters; not an unelected unaccountable official in Brussels. If you vote to remain you are agreeing to even more integration, more loss of sovereignty, more immigration, an EU army and eventually joining the Eurozone. It costs us £8.5 billion a year (net) to be part of the EU, all of which is given to other countries to compete against us. EU's migration policies are reasons our welfare state is in tatters, UK wages for manual workers are kept low, there's scarce affordable housing, schools bursting at the seams and the NHS in meltdown. Let's be part of Europe, not in it!"

LABOUR Haverhill town councillor Maureen Byrne: "More than 400,000 jobs in the East of England are directly dependent on Britain's trade inside the European Union. "Brexit could undermine the rights of disabled people in Britain. Last year, 87,000 British disabled people were helped toward employment by European social funding. "Even if we leave the EU we will still have to accept the rules of the single market if we continue to do business without barriers, which is vital for our economy. That means we end up paying a similar contribution while having to accept all the rules, including free movement, but have no say in making the rules."

referendum

JONATHAN van Niekerk, who runs Technics Motors in Haverhill's Homefields Road: "The EU has made it very difficult for the motor trade. Look what they have done to the diesel engines – it's referendums in the EU that have made all these emission requirements. "They created the euro6 emission requirements, which was basically fresh air coming out of the exhaust. As a mechanic you struggle to repair these things because in order to meet these standards they have to put all these other things on your car. "The whole kaboodle has never benefited us. If there were grants and benefits to help small businesses, I've never had anything come my way in all my years of trading."

PAUL Donno, who runs Haverhill firm 1 Accounts Online: "As a local accountant...I cannot see any reason to exit the EU. We have many clients that trade with the EU and have employees and business owners that operate from and across the EU and this needs to remain for a strong and vibrant economy in my opinion. "As I understand, even if we exit the EU we will still effectively be subject to EU law across the countries that we trade with and we will have no way to influence any EU decisions that can and will affect us in business and personal life. If we remain in the EU we will have that very important voice and vote at the table."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Email us at editorial@haverhill-news.co.uk or visit cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

HAVERHILL UKIP county councillor Julian Flood: "As an ex-serviceman I have concerns not just for Haverhill but for the whole of the UK. The blundering EU diplomatic service has stirred things up in Eastern Europe. Russia has attacked Georgia and annexed Crimea. Their proxy forces are fighting in the Ukraine. "There are now regular simulated attacks by Russian bomber aircraft, armed with stand-off missiles, on the west coast of the UK. The EU is trying to build its own armed forces, but the Russians will not just see an EU army, they will see a powerful Germany and, remembering their history, they will rearm....NATO has held the peace for more than 60 years and to put that at risk, which an EU army will do, is folly."

Mayor still to make decision

HAVERHILL mayor David Roach: "My heart says 'out' and my head says 'in'. We have been bombarded with so much information that is either wrong or slanted.... "Friends in business in the US suggest that some of their companies based here as a European foothold may have to move. That may or may not be true, but it may happen. Equally, companies in the EU are not going to cease trading with us just because we leave. "In an ever-decreasing world, countries have to collaborate in one form or another to succeed. We see various groupings around the globe where countries tie themselves together to be a stronger player in the market place.... "I am concerned that we do not have enough democratic control over the EU, but we can't change that from the outside! "On immigration I think that this is a worry but we have always had immigration and emigration. In the 50s we had immigration from the Caribbean then, in the 70s, Africa from our former colonies and then, when we ceased allowing Commonwealth citizens the ability to gain UK passports, there was a large influx to beat that deadline. Large numbers left this country to go to Australia, New Zealand and Canada, and, of course, a lot of us now live in the warmer parts of Europe. So, on balance, immigration is a bit of a scare tactic."

We need new champions

THE 201 people across Suffolk who volunteer for The Children's Society are the lifeblood of our organisation and are crucial to our fight against child poverty and teenage neglect.

I want to mark national Volunteers' Week (June 1-12) by thanking all our volunteers, whether they help out in our shops, raise vital funds and awareness, or directly support young people in our projects. They make an amazing difference to so many people's lives!

I am also grateful to our volunteer campaigners – 446 of them in Suffolk – who strive to make the law work better for vulnerable children. In the past 12 months they have helped press energy companies to improve their treatment of households who have fallen behind with their bills. They helped persuade Parliament to debate how 16 and 17-year-old victims of sexual exploitation are being failed. And in some areas they have helped stop bailiffs knocking at the doors of families with children.

This month we're stepping things up with a new opportunity for people across Suffolk to become local campaigners, directing their energy, passion and commitment to making positive changes for our young people at a local level. Anyone who is interested in being a Campaign Champion or volunteering for The Children's Society in any other way can find out more at childrenssociety.org.uk/campaign-champion or call 0300 303 7000.

Swimmers have raised £165k

DIABETES UK would like to extend our thanks to the 1,554 swimmers who took on our Swim22 challenge during spring.

Individuals and teams swam 22 miles each, the same distance as across the English Channel, in their local swimming pools.

With the three-month event finishing on May 22, their amazing efforts have already raised £165,000 for Diabetes UK's vital work. We expect that more than £200,000 will be raised once all the sponsorship money has been delivered.

Money raised will help us to fund research into diabetes, campaign on key issues, and offer education and support to more people who are living with the condition.

There are now four million people with diabetes in the UK – a number that is growing rapidly – but the right support at the right time can help people to manage their condition and live long, healthy lives.

If you would like to take part in one of our fundraising events, see what we have coming up at diabetes.org.uk/fundraising.

Thank you to all our volunteers

VOLUNTEERS' Week, June 1-12, is a time to honour the accomplishments of National Childbirth Trust (NCT) volunteers both past and present.

Volunteers have been at the heart of NCT since 1956. Beginning as a small group of new mothers offering their time to improve childbirth practices, we are now fortunate to have over 10,000 dedicated people volunteering on our behalf. Today, NCT supports parents across the first thousand days – through pregnancy, birth and becoming a mum or dad.

As our work has evolved over the past 60 years, these amazing women (and, increasingly men) have led us every step of the way. From co-ordinating NCT's programmes for newly-settled refugee and asylum seekers, to packing bags at nearly new sales or fundraising for better mental health support, every NCT volunteer has influenced our success, and for this I thank you.

As we celebrate our volunteers throughout the course of Volunteers' Week, never has a quote seemed more appropriate to reflect NCT's past, present and future:

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has." – Margaret Mead.

Nick Wilkie
NCT Chief Executive

NEWS IN BRIEF

Church flower festival

A ROYAL-THEMED flower festival is taking place at a Cambridgeshire church this month.

To display flowers, call Gay Redman on (01223) 290 807. To volunteer to serve refreshments, call Jenny Whitehead on (01223) 290 524.

MP welcomes latest employment figures

MP for Haverhill Matthew Hancock, right, has welcomed the latest employment figures for the town. The number of unemployed Haverhill residents fell from 270 in April last year, to 175 in April this year.

Hospital gets new system for funding

A HOSPITAL is no longer being paid based on the number of patients it treats under a new system.

West Suffolk Hospital is now receiving a set payment from the West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group, regardless of the number of patients it treats.

The new system was introduced on April 1.

PLANNING

Hundreds object to plan for 95 new village homes

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

MORE than 350 letters of objection have been sent about proposals for 95 village homes.

The scheme, by Gladman Developments, would bring around 300 new residents into Steeple Bumpstead, near Haverhill, which currently has a population of 1,700.

Around 360 letters of objection have been sent to Braintree District Council from residents of Steeple Bumpstead and surrounding villages, as well as the parish councils of Steeple Bumpstead and Helions Bumpstead.

Objectors fear such a large increase in population would put pressure on the village GP surgery, overcrowd Stanley Drapkin Primary School and clog up roads in the area.

Ian MacKenzie, chair of campaign group Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead, told the News: "We have worked very hard to get as many members of the public in Steeple Bumpstead as possible involved in the planning process.

PROTEST: Members of the Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead campaign group

"We have had wonderful support from the public. It really does express the real concern about this development."

He said as well as the issues that would come with increased demand for services, campaigners were concerned about the privacy of existing residents who live near the proposed development site.

A decision on the plans is due on July 8, and Mr MacKenzie said the group would continue its campaign, making submissions to the district council and scrutinising planning documents.

Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead has invited council planning officers to view the site.

Mr MacKenzie said: "We are not resting on our laurels."

Although the group was not against development in the village, it viewed this particular plan as "unsustainable", he added.

Gladman Developments declined to comment.

COMMUNITY

SPECIAL DAY: Pupils from Castle Manor School at last year's market

Call to market music makers

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

TALENTED local musicians are needed to play at a special event in Haverhill's market square on Saturday.

The event will see students from the town's Samuel Ward Academy and Castle Manor Academy setting out stalls. They will be competing to make as much money as possible from a £50 float given to each team by the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

The schools are also set to send a number of dance students to perform on the market square, and St Edmundsbury Borough Council has organised craft and gift stalls. There is set to be an "unrideable" mechanical horse for children to have a go at riding, with a prize for whoever manages to stay on the longest.

Borough council markets officer Sharon Fairweather is seeking local musicians to cap off the day.

She said that musicians of all ages and musical styles were welcome, and that the borough council would reimburse their expenses.

She added that it was a good opportunity for musicians, saying: "They can give out cards, and people quite often see them and want them to play elsewhere."

Music was played last year at the schools' market, and there were also bands and solo artists performing at the town's world village market from April 8 to 9.

This is part of a growing programme of events on Haverhill market, with Sharon aiming to have one approximately every two months.

She said: "We are trying to do some more things on the market - it's a lovely square."

After Saturday's youth and craft market, the next event on the market square will be the Haverhill beer festival of July 2.

This will be the second time the event has been run by the borough council. It will also feature live music, and this year is set to combine with a day of street performances in the High Street as part of the Haverhill Festival.

If you would like to perform on Saturday, email sharon.fairweather@west-suffolk.gov.uk or call (01284) 757093.

POLITICS

Teens go up for youth election

TWO 15-year-olds are standing for election with pledges including more youth activity centres and reopening Haverhill's walk-in centre.

Haverhill teenager Dominic Richards is going head-to-head with Oliver Nunn from Ousden in this year's UK Youth Parliament (UKYP) elections.

Samuel Ward Academy student Dominic is standing on pledges relating to immigration, the NHS, and climate change.

His immigration pledges involve welcoming migrants fleeing conflicts in the Middle East and founding community schemes in West Suffolk to help them, such as food banks and clothing banks. He also states he would aim to make sure financially stable migrants paid tax after one year in the country and benefits were not given to those who had been in the country less than three months.

Dominic is in favour of

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

nationalising all parts of the NHS and paying overtime to junior doctors working the weekend. He would like to see Haverhill's walk-in centre, which closed four years ago, reopened.

His climate change pledges involve investing in renewable energy, such as solar and wind power – including putting solar panels on the roofs of new houses built in Haverhill.

He said: "My politics will always benefit the majority of the people, no matter what race, religion or gender they are, and not just a small minority of the people. I will also be a firm voice for the youth of Suffolk."

Oliver's campaign pledges are focused on young people's interests. He says he would spend time engaging young people in politics and campaigning for more political education in schools.

He says he would make sure the views of local young people were heard in the youth parliament and would work on getting more youth activity centres set up so that young people were more able to engage in the community.

UKYP is a national organisation that gives people aged 11 to 18 the chance to have their voices heard by local, regional and national government. Members organise events, run campaigns and have the opportunity to sit in the House of Commons and meet with ministers and opposition spokespeople.

Anyone aged 11 to 18 who lives, works or studies in Suffolk can vote in the Suffolk elections by visiting the-source.me.uk. Voting closes at midnight on Sunday.

NOMINATED: Staff at Cleves Place Care Home in Haverhill's Millfields Way are celebrating being put forward for two awards

Home in running for two awards

A CARE home has been nominated for two awards.

Cleves Place Care Home in Haverhill's Millfields Way is up for the prizes for Team and Motivational Leadership at the Suffolk Care Awards.

The awards, run by Suffolk Brokerage and the Suffolk Association of Independent Care Providers (SAICP), will be given out at a ceremony on September 29.

Before that, Cleves Place manager Sharlene

Van Tonder and her team are set to be visited by judges for both of the award categories later in June.

Ms Van Tonder said: "I am delighted that we have been shortlisted for two Suffolk Care Awards."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Choir performs at cathedral in France

A CHOIR from Haverhill has performed a selection of popular songs at a French cathedral.

Twenty-seven members of the Haverhill Choral Society visited their home's twin town in France, Pont St Esprit, earlier this month. They performed a selection of six tunes, including the version of "The Lord is my Shepherd" which became the theme tune of TV's The Vicar of Dibley.

Community café will be ready for summer

REFURBISHMENTS are under way to create a new community café in a Haverhill centre.

Workers are installing lighting and repainting the interior areas of the Chalkstone Community Centre in Strasbourg Square in preparation for the CHEX café opening this summer.

The café will provide support sessions for various groups.

HISTORY

Films show last train and flooding in 1960s

FLOODING: Haverhill Urban District Council's deputy clerk wades to the council offices during the 1965 flood. Picture: Haverhill and District Local History Society

Do you remember the flooding? Let us know at cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

TWO films available online give a glimpse into Haverhill's past.

Footage of the last train to leave Haverhill Station before it was closed in 1961 and a severe flood that hit the town in 1968 have been released by the British Film Institute (BFI).

The films, held by the East Anglian Film Archive, are available on the BFI Player, the institute's searchable archive of film from across the country.

The release of the footage is part of the BFI's Britain on film project, which aims to unlock the film heritage of the nation.

A three-minute film of the Haverhill Flood of 1968 was one of 750 "rural life" films released last week.

It shows residents waist-deep in water in the town's Withersfield Road and Lower Downs Slade, with some leaning out of the window of the Woolpack pub to look at the flooding.

Chair of the Haverhill and District Local History Society, Roy Brazier remembers the flood.

He said: "Some people were waist-deep along the Withersfield Road. It reached just outside the

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

Co-Op building which is now Peacocks."

The flood happened when three inches of rain fell in 24 hours, causing the Stour Brook to burst its banks.

The 20-minute film "Any more for Birdbrook?", which is also featured in the archive, sees filmmaker Chib Thorp take a ride on the last train to travel on the Colne Valley and Halstead Railway line – which stopped at Haverhill Station.

The station was closed in 1961.

Mr Brazier said: "I was there at the station when the last train went. It was packed full."

"Lots of them got on, went on the train to Sturmer, and got their wives to pick them up, so they could say they'd been on the last train."

But he added that when he commuted by rail in the late 1950s there could be as few as seven or eight people on a train.

To view the films, go to player.bfi.org.uk/britain-on-film, and search for "Haverhill".

'Why we should change law on assisted suicide'

Every fortnight, a British person with an incurable illness travels to Switzerland to end their life at Dignitas. Emma Higginbotham meets Penny Hall, who accompanied her father on his final journey.

UNDERSTANDING: Penny Hall admits that she often cries and thinks about her father a lot. "But I haven't spoken to anyone who hasn't understood," she says. "People are compassionate." Picture: Keith Heppell

"I'm sorry – sometimes I can be very matter of fact about it," says Penny Hall, wiping away a tear. "But I want to tell the story, because I really believe the law has to change. I know my dad would want me to as well . . ."

It's been 18 months since Penny booked a return ticket for herself, and a one-way ticket for her father, Ron Hall, to Switzerland, where the 78-year-old had chosen to die at Dignitas. But even now, her eyes glisten as she talks about her much-loved dad.

"There's this huge sense of loss, because he was a very important part of our lives. But because he was so happy, so relieved and so clear about his decision, it really helps," she says quietly. "He had no fear. No fear whatsoever."

Originally from North Wales, Ron, a former schoolteacher, moved with his wife to Cambridge 20 years ago to be near Penny and her children, Sam and Nina, now both 24. "He was very vibrant, very engaged. He just loved life," says Penny. "I home-educated my children, and my dad was very involved with that. He was a born teacher."

Ron was a familiar face around the city, too. As 'The Alchemist', he'd don historical clothes and take part in re-enactments at the likes of Stourbridge Fair: "He loved doing things like that, dressing up and talking to people."

But everything changed in 2013 when Ron was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease. The most common form of dementia, Alzheimer's causes the brain to become increasingly damaged, leading to devastating mental and physical deterioration.

"Bit by bit the things he loved to do, the things that made life worth living for him, he couldn't do any more," recalls Penny, a 55-year-old voluntary worker. "He stopped being able to drive, and then cycle; then he couldn't read any more. He couldn't dress himself; he couldn't physically look after himself. He struggled with walking and just shuffled."

"But quite cruelly, his mind was still very rational," she adds. "He was forgetful, but he was always able to have rational conversations. So he could see exactly what was happening to him – and he knew exactly where it was going."

Initially, Ron was put on a dementia drug which worked "really amazingly" for a few months, "and then when that started tailing off, he decided he wanted to go to Dignitas."

"And from the moment he made that decision, it was like this massive sense of relief. He just became happy. I can't tell you what a difference it made to him – it was a release from what he was going through."

Penny first heard the news from her mum, "and I can remember going to see him after she told me. We both just cried. Of course I was really sad, but I totally understood: it was such a mixture of grief and relief for him."

Assisted suicide – helping someone to die – is illegal in the UK but, as Swiss law doesn't prohibit it, there are several organisations where incurably ill people can end their lives. Dignitas, in Zurich, is one of the few which offers its services to those not living in Switzerland. On average, one British person dies there every fortnight.

Ron made up his mind in early 2014, and started on the paperwork immediately, "because he knew he wouldn't be able to go once he'd lost mental capacity. Dignitas are really strict on that," explains Penny. "There are a lot of hoops to jump through: he had four separate consultations with doctors and psychiatrists to confirm that he had the mental capacity to make that decision."

"But he was amazing over that whole period. He was so calm, so certain. He never wavered. To begin with, every time I saw him I would check again: was he still sure? And he just got fed up of me checking! It was just so clearly what he wanted."

"The gift of it was that over that summer, we knew it was our last few months with him, so it was really precious – and it meant everything was said between me and my dad, which I'm really grateful for," she adds.

"We used to have a day a week together, just the two of us, and they were amazing times. Knowing that I was going to lose him, I came to fully appreciate what an amazing father he'd been, and I could say everything to him. Nothing was left unsaid – and I'm so glad about that."

Once the date was set, the family were then able to tell other friends, "and it was like this massive outpouring of love. Letters were coming from his students from 40 years earlier, just appreciating what he'd given them in their lives. All the things that people say at funerals, they said it all to him."

Eventually Ron flew to Switzerland with his wife, Penny and her children, and Penny's sister and her 17-year-old son, so they could all be by his side as he died.

"It wasn't like I thought it would be," she reflects. "You read a lot about a 'clinic', but it's not a clinic at all. It's on an industrial estate – they couldn't have it in a residential area out of sensitivity for the neighbours – but they've carefully planted the plot so when you walk in, it's like a little haven."

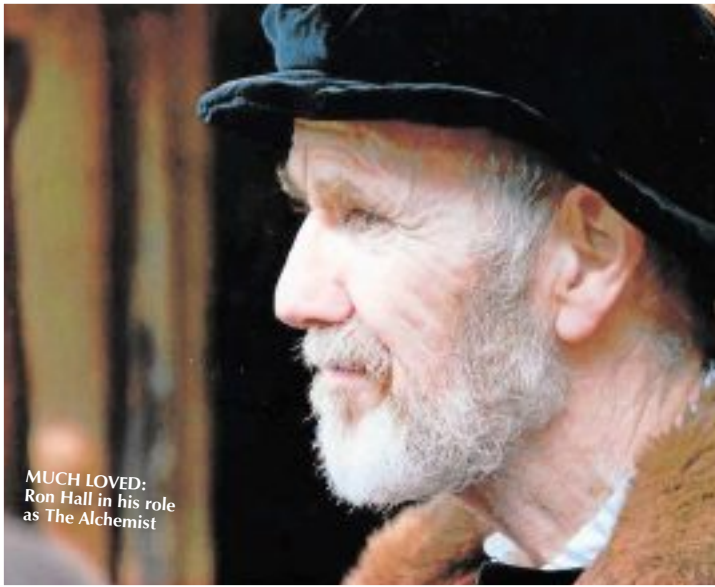

"There's a pond and lots of greenery, and inside it's like a living room, with a sofa and table and a bed. And the people who support you through it are really warm and compassionate, and gave us a lot of space."

Lying on the bed, Ron began by taking an anti-emetic to stop him being sick, followed by a 20-minute wait. "We'd made a CD of his favourite music, so we put that on, and then he was just chatting away," recalls Penny. "We were talking about when he met my mum, because we were playing some music from that time – and then they came back in with the drug."

"It was a liquid, and he drank it with no hesitation. He was asleep within a minute, and died a few minutes later. It was very

calm and peaceful – my mum describes it as ‘beautiful’, and it was beautiful.”

When the family returned to Cambridge there was a short police investigation: assisted suicide is a criminal offence punishable by up to 14 years’ imprisonment.

“This is one of the reasons why I so strongly think the law should change,” says Penny. “The police investigation happened afterwards, so if there had been someone pushing him to do it, it would be too late, wouldn’t it? The law makes no sense!”

“If assisted suicide was legal and there were safeguards in place, coercion would be caught in advance, the person wouldn’t die and it would all be out in the open. It would all be much easier for everybody.” The police didn’t press charges.

For Penny and her family, life marches on. It’s been particularly tough on her mum, who was married to Ron for nearly 60 years: “Obviously she’s distraught, and she misses him. But for my mum it was the ultimate act of love. She didn’t want to leave him, and she often cries, but she knew he wanted to die.”

Penny admits that she often cries too, “and I think about him a lot. I see him in my children as well: they’re both teaching now, which would have delighted him.

“But never have any of us thought it wasn’t the right thing, and so far I haven’t spoken to anyone who hasn’t understood. People are compassionate.”

Penny has found herself increasingly interested in the subject, and is active in the right-to-die movement.

Witnessing her father’s “calm, peaceful and easy” death cemented her views, “and I find it reassuring for myself that if I ever get Alzheimer’s, I can do that. I would definitely do it. Why would I want to go into that awful endgame?”

“It’s taken away any fear that I’d had,” she concludes, “and I’m left feeling much more aware of my own mortality in a positive way. Recognising that I’m going to die, I’m left thinking ‘Well if I’m going to die one day, how amazing is it to be alive now?’”

The freedom to say: I’ve had enough

DIGNITY in Dying is a national organisation which campaigns for a change in the law to make a doctor-assisted death available for terminally ill people who ask for it, if a doctor has said that they have six months or less to live.

Although this change in the law wouldn’t have helped Ron, who might have lived for many more years, Penny is still a firm supporter.

Valerie Twiss, co-ordinator of the Cambridge group of Dignity in Dying, says: “If people are suffering unbearably, and if things are only going to get worse rather than better, they should have a right to medical help to die in as painless and civilised way as possible.

“People can and do commit suicide, but suicide attempts are often unsuccessful, painful, messy, cause damage to other people – throwing oneself in front of a train, for example – and create a great deal of work for the emergency services. It can also be very traumatic for people who find them.

“This is almost the last big liberal campaign that British society has to fight,” she adds. “Over my lifetime I’ve seen big changes in attitudes to things such as divorce, abortion, and gay rights, but there’s still strong resistance to the freedom of the individual who is suffering unbearably to say to a doctor: ‘I’ve had enough – please help me to die.’”

The Cambridge group has just over 50 members.

What about the danger of vulnerable people being coerced into suicide? “We have to build in lots of safeguards,” she acknowledges. “One is that people can write an ‘advance decision’ that they lodge with their doctor, so that if they reach a state when they are ill and feel they would like doctor assistance, it’s very clear that, from the outset, this was their view and no-one was pressurising them.

“Recent polls show that 80 per cent of the general public would like a law which allows assisted dying for terminally ill people with six months or less to live, if they really want it,” she concludes. “But if we want to change the law we’ve got to unite and put pressure on the lawmakers and our MPs.”

The local Dignity in Dying group meets about three times a year: for more information call Valerie on (01954) 200637.

Acoustic tunes

SINGER Barbara Dickson – best known for hits such as I Know Him So Well and January, February – takes to the stage with pianist Nick Holland for a special acoustic performance at Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, June 24, at 8pm.

Barbara and Nick will explore her catalogue of songs at an intimate level, letting the words and melodies take centre stage as they perform a range of material drawing on Barbara's folk roots, contemporary greats, and some of her classic hits.

Nick joined Barbara's touring band in the mid 2000s after working with Troy Donockley in the Maddy Prior Band and recording with Maddy on a couple of her seminal albums which Barbara knew and admired. He also sang on her 'Full Circle' album, which features the style of music she now performs.

Barbara and Nick will be supported by Irish singer Anthony Toner.

Tickets are £24 and available from www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or the box office (01440) 714140.

■ Thursday, June 2 – Friday, June 10

■ Popular Blunderbus Theatre returns to the arts centre with a brand new adaptation of the timeless tale The Sorcerer's Apprentice especially for little sorcerers aged 3 – 7 today at 11am and 1.30pm. Charlie Hubble is a little boy with a very big dream, he wants to be a world-class magician. So, he saves up his pocket money to buy The Big Book of Magic and sets off to Mr Zaccor's shop to buy it. But Mr Zaccor is no ordinary shopkeeper; he's a real life sorcerer! And he has a very special job for Charlie.

■ New Yorker Woody Mann returns to Haverhill with an enticing mix of American acoustic blues, roots and jazz guitar all played with passion tonight at 8pm. Widely considered as one of the top acoustic guitarists in the world, he is often described as one of the "virtuosos virtuosos" and he even taught Paul Simon how to play! Think bridge, water ...

■ Centre Stage Company and Haverhill Silver Band combine to bring Brassed Off, the stage version of the 1990's hit film about miners, music, despair and defiance, all laced with gritty northern humour to the arts centre. Grimley Colliery is set to close as accountants say there's more money in it shut than open. It means 1,200 job losses, a dying town and the demise of its brass band. But under the leadership of Danny, coughing with coal-dusted lungs, the band is somehow transformed into British champions. Beware this production includes smoking on stage and some adult language. Not to be missed, showing on Wednesday, June 8, to Saturday, June 11, at 7.30pm with a matinee

BRASSED OFF: Centre Stage Company combines with Haverhill Silver band for this stage version of the 1990's hit film about miners, music, despair and defiance at 2.30pm on the Saturday.

■ On the cinema front for half term the arts centre has a second showing of Zootropolis 2D (PG) on Friday, June 3, at 10.30am. Judy Hopps a determined young rabbit enlists in the local police force and to solve the mysterious case of a missing rabbit, must team up with a con-artist fox. Kung Fu Panda 3 (PG), showing on Friday, June 3, at 2.30pm, sees Po and his long-lost father Li training a village of clumsy, fun-loving pandas to defeat a supernatural villain, to become the ultimate kung fu warriors.

■ Forthcoming events include Brooklyn Academy of Music's live broadcast of The Judas Kiss starring Rupert Everett on Sunday, June 12, at 8pm, a RSC recorded broadcast of Hamlet on Wednesday, June 15, at 7pm and something a bit different and definitely worth a look, is comedy hypnotist Matt Hale with 100% Chicken Free, a show that promises to be amazing, amusing, tasteful and suitable for families!

CITROËN'S New C4 Cactus Rip Curl Special Edition will go on sale in the UK on June 1, priced from £18,480. The new Special Edition introduces Grip Control to the C4 Cactus range for the first time and features Rip Curl inspired styling elements to emphasise the adventurous character of the multi-award-winning model.

Featuring unique interior and exterior styling elements to complement the adventurous nature of the model, the new C4 Cactus Special Edition boasts Rip Curl graphics on the wings and rear quarter-lights; white roof rails and door mirrors; orange seatbelts; orange detailing on the audio speakers; and orange-trimmed carpet mats.

Embodying both brands' values of innovation, creativity and spirit of adventure, the Special Edition also introduces Grip Control to the C4 Cactus range for the first time. This intelligent traction system allows drivers to select different modes to deal with the types of surfaces encountered as part of an adventurous outdoor lifestyle, such as snow, mud and sand. The Special Edition also features 17-inch diamond cut 'Cross' alloy wheels with Goodyear 4 seasons Mud+Snow tyres.

ON ITS WAY: The Citroën C4 Cactus Rip Curl

The C4 Cactus Rip Curl Special Edition will offer customers a choice of two engines, the award-winning PureTech 110 S&S and the Blue HDi 100.

Revealed for the first time at the 2016 Geneva Motor Show, this new Special Edition features a panoramic glass roof, as standard, and will be available with five striking body colours – Obsidian Black (metallic), Arctic Steel (metallic), Pearl White (pearlescent), Sport Red and Tapenade Grey. All versions come complete with Citroën's innovative Airbump® technology, which is designed to avoid scrapes and scratches to the bodywork.

Standard equipment also includes aluminium-effect front and rear bumper protectors; rear parking sensors; a colour reversing camera; automatic air conditioning; automatic headlights and wipers; satellite navigation; a 6-speaker MP3 audio system; cruise control/speed limiter; and tinted rear windows.

The New Citroën C4 Cactus Rip Curl Special Edition is now on sale in the UK.

MX-5 wins 'Best Real-World Driver's Car' title at awards

THE all-new Mazda MX-5's handling and driver engagement has been recognised at the 2016 Autocar Awards.

Named "Best Real-World Driver's Car" by the road testers of Britain's most established car magazine, Mazda's sports car came out on top in Autocar's annual test of affordable enthusiasts' cars.

The lightest MX-5 since the iconic original, the all-new Mazda MX-5 is shorter, lower and wider than the car it replaced. With the smallest overhangs and lowest centre of gravity yet, its dynamic proportions and Mazda's KODO: Soul of Motion styling reflects its focus on driving pleasure in an unmistakably contemporary and dynamic way.

Featuring Mazda's award-winning SKYACTIV technology, the all-new MX-5's ultra-efficient petrol engines and lightweight chassis ensure new levels of performance and economy. Agility and driver engagement is taken to a new level, while at the same time the latest MX-5 meets ever-increasing safety refinement requirements and delivers substantially improved refinement.

With perfect 50:50 weight distribution and more technology than ever before, the all-new MX-5 has firmly re-established Mazda's dominance of the affordable sports car sector. Something recognised by Autocar at their 2016 award ceremony. Commenting on the MX-5's performance, Autocar's chief tester Matt Saunders said, "our winner stands head and shoulders above the competition for its blend of accessible performance and delightful handling."

Having already been named Japan Car of the Year 2015/16, 2016 UK Car of the Year and 2016 World Car of the Year, the all-new Mazda MX-5's trophy collection is growing ever bigger. Plus, with the one-millionth MX-5 having rolled down the production line on the 22nd April 2016, the world's best-selling two-seater sports car continues to win the hearts of customers and media alike.

Mazda Motors UK Managing Director, Jeremy Thomson said, "We're thrilled with both the customer and media response to the all-new MX-5. This car symbolises all that is great about our products. Its fun to drive character has strengthened the connection between Mazda and its customers for more than 25 years, and today it's the definitive example of how our SKYACTIV Technology and KODO design philosophy help us create stylish, spirited and great to drive cars."

Adding, "the fact that this comes at a price point that makes the MX-5 an achievable aspiration for so many makes this car even more special. When it was launched in 1990 the 115ps Mk1 MX-5 cost £14,249 (equal to £31,687 in today's money), yet 25 years later with vastly more standard equipment, the all-new Mazda MX-5 costs from £18,495, meaning more than ever the Mazda MX-5 sets the benchmark as the one of the world's best and most affordable sports cars, so we are delighted Autocar has recognised this with their Best Real-World Driver's car award."

Since its UK launch in 1990 over 120,000 MX-5s have been sold to British driving fans, so with 2016 set for a bumper year of MX-5 convertible sales, and next month's Goodwood Festival of Speed seeing the European debut of the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF, the next chapter of the MX-5 success story is already being written.

FUN: American Air Show

Duxford air event will be slower on ground

HIGHWAYS England is reminding road users in Cambridgeshire that roads may be busier than usual this weekend due to the American Air Show at IWM Duxford, the historic airfield and museum of aviation history, tomorrow and Sunday.

Drivers should check conditions before setting out and not travel to the air show unless they have a ticket. The American Air Show is advance tickets only. Tickets go off-sale at midnight on Friday 27 May and there will not be any tickets available to purchase on the gate at the air show. Anyone without a ticket should not attempt to travel to the event, as they will not be able to gain entry to the air show.

For more information visit the IWM Duxford website at iwm.org.uk.

SUCCESS: The students who competed in the Essex Open championships (above) and the students who passed their grading tests (right)

Grading success for Shotokan Karate students

THE KMA Shotokan Karate Club recently held grading examinations at the Clements Primary School in Haverhill, with all members passing their grades to a high standard.

To achieve their passes, the students had to complete combinations of basic and advanced moves as well as a sequence of moves called katas.

They then finished off by demonstrating self-defence techniques and five-step attacks.

The grading lasted four-and-a-half hours, with two senseis, one senpai and an independent adjudicator judging the students.

■ Three members of the KMA Shotokan Karate Club competed at the Essex Open Karate Championships, with some successful results.

Ricky Howard claimed a silver medal in his men's open kata event, as well as a bronze medal in the team competition along with Oscar Cabral.

Dacey Sullivan claimed sixth place in his kata competition, while Cabral finished fifth in his junior kata contest.

All three members acquitted themselves well against just under 30 other competitors.

For more details about the club, email kmashotokan@gmail.com or telephone 07917843401.

Motorsport

Sims happy to finish in fifth place

ALEXANDER Sims declared himself a satisfied man after claiming a fifth-place finish at the ADAC Zurich Nurburgring 24 Hours.

The West Wratting driver and his Rowe Racing team suffered a blow when their BMW M6 GT3 suffered an electronics failure while waiting for the race to restart.

The event had been red-flagged because of excessive rain and hail, and it was during the delay when Sims' car developed the problem.

But despite falling down the order, he and co-drivers Dirk Werner, Maxime Martin and Philipp Eng rallied to finish in fifth.

Sims said: "I'm pretty satisfied. It's always slightly mixed emotions when you get a result like that. It's great to finish, and you feel proud of the team, but at the same time, you go racing to win."

"We had one small glitch when restarting the race after the red flag period. The car had just been sitting there in the rain and the water got into the electronics."

Having failed to finish the event in two previous outings, Sims was nevertheless pleased to register a credible result.

Athletics

Firat leads Broad Oak challenge

HAVERHILL Running Club had a number of athletes in action at the Hatfield Broad Oak 10K.

More than 1,000 runners took part in the event, and Yusuf Firat was the first of the Haverhill athletes across the line, finishing in 40.33.

He was followed home by Andy Barber (43.07), while Kirsty Millard out-sprinted husband Kevin Millard to claim the family bragging rights in a personal best 44.49.

Further down the field Shirley Fowler, Andy Palmer, Grace Judge, Cherlin Lane, Ruth Bayne, Zoe Chapman and Stuart Shepard also finished in impressive times.

Stokes seals another victory at Thorpness

FIONA Stokes added to her growing collection of prizes with victory in the Thorpness Junior Open.

The Haverhill golfer carded a round of nett 78 to overcome some stiff competition and windy conditions on a challenging course to take the win.

Meanwhile, Linda Alexander was representing Haverhill at the East of England Ladies' Golf Medal final.

The club's lady golfer of the year finished 22nd out of 120 players in the field at Thetford with a two over par score.

Back at the club, Alexander won one of the ladies' May medal competitions with a round of nett 72, while Sally Price took the other after carding 75.

Golf

Price won the midweek stableford as well with 37 points and Anne Reed triumphed in the Saturday stableford with 42.

Harvey Bavester triumphed in the men's Foundation Cup, overcoming tough playing conditions to record scores of nett 76 and 69.

Ciaran Brennan won the IFF medal with 41 points and took Division Two honours as well, with Allen O'Donoghue winning Division One on 39 and Roger Corbett winning Division Three on 38.

Andy Fish went round in nett 68 to win the midweek medal.

Doreen Darbey, Dick Sisman, John Condon and Bob Hammett won the seniors' mixed match for the Alan Wakeman Trophy.

And the Peggy McGhee Trophy, for teams of one lady and two men, was won by the husband-and-wife team of Kirsty and Chris Iron with Paul Chapman.

Celia Bramwell and Darren Brittain won the foursomes match for Parklands members.

Haverhill's Beaumont Cup team are through to the next round after a win over St Audrey's and now face Felixstowe Ferry later this month.

The club's mixed match against Girtton saw them triumph 5-2, but the ladies went down 2½-1½ at home to Bourn in a friendly.

Jackie Condon, Stokes, Mandy Williams, Anna Fairhead and Lyn Fish were narrowly beaten 3-2 away to Rookery Park in the Weston Trophy.
